

ANGIE kick-start Programme

The ANGIE Kick-start Programme is an initiative from the ANGIE project that aims to create a solid baseline of knowledge and skills for localised targeted drug delivery based on steerable wireless nanodevices, capable of navigating the body vascular system to deliver drugs where no other instrument can go.

In the ANGIE Kick-start Programme you start with an idea related to targeted drug delivery to treat a certain health condition and you finish with a clear definition of the concept, a viable business case and a prototype development plan.

Raising awareness and triggering entrepreneurship for targeted drug delivery.
