

the future of drug delivery

angie

Dear Dr. El Moukhtari,

I am pleased to inform you that your dissertation, entitled “Nanomedicines for the Treatment of Pediatric Neuroblastoma”, has been selected as the recipient of this year's Best Thesis Award from the ANGIE project. This prize recognizes excellence in research at an early career stage and encourages awardees to pursue a further career in science.

Your dissertation showcased exceptional quality and impactful research implications. The award committee was impressed by your meticulous research, innovative approach and the profound contributions your work has made to improve the therapeutic outlook for Neuroblastoma pediatric patients.

As part of this recognition, you will receive a certificate of achievement and a monetary prize of 1000€. Additionally, we invite you to participate in an upcoming episode of the ANGIE Podcast series to discuss the significant implications of targeted drug delivery in contemporary medicine.

Congratulations on your accomplishment!

Kind regards,

Chair of the Award Committee

